LET HAWAII HAPPEN... NATURALLY

Surfers, O'ahu

Nāpali Coast, Kaua'i

Renowned for its displays of tranquil blue seas framed by velvety cliffs, misty tropical rainforests and dramatic volcanic terrain, Hawaii's treasures go deeper than its sheer beauty. Bekah Wright reveals breathtaking adventures across Hawaii that are unique to each island where you can simply #LetHawaiiHappen.

Within an hour's drive of O'ahu's cosmopolitan side lies the island's fabled North Shore. Ribbons of high-rises give way to more than seven miles of dazzling beaches edged by foaming waves that reach incredible heights in the winter months. The North Shore is home to the Vans Triple Crown of Surfing, the penultimate big-wave surf competition, and you can often watch surfers tackling the waves in local hot spots — Hale'iwa Ali'i Beach Park, Sunset Beach, Waimea Bay and 'Ehukai Beach, aka the "Banzai Pipeline." Watching these athletes in action may inspire you to "hang ten," in which case beginner lessons among gentle breaks are available throughout the island.

From the plunging chasm of Waimea Canyon where lush foliage blankets red clay soil to the emerald-green cliffs of Nāpali Coast, it's no wonder that Kaua'i is known as the Garden Isle. Plantation tours reveal bountiful orchards with local produce like Kaua'i's sugarloaf pineapple and juicy rambutan, while botanical gardens showcase island flora. Even amongst this relaxed atmosphere lies a hidden adventure worth exploring: inner tubing through the irrigation ditches of a former sugar plantation. This fun-filled activity traverses a darkened tunnel and cuts through Kaua'i's backcountry, offering a unique glimpse of the island's landscape.

Nature's power is in full force in Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park on the island of Hawai'i. Hike terrain sculpted by lava where you may get a chance to spot steaming vents and fiery spectacles. Moments of awe-inspiring elegance are also found on this expansive island that encompasses more than 4,000 square miles of wildly diverse scenery. Just off the Kona Coast you'll find a nighttime ballet of manta rays dancing under the shimmering waters of the Pacific Ocean. Underwater lights illuminate this spectacle as the rays pirouette and flit around, feeding on plankton lurking in the coral reef — best observed as you snorkel or dive in these waters.

There's a juncture on Maui where it's said heaven meets earth, which makes lofty adventures apropos when you visit this island. Launch from an elevated wooden platform and skim high over the tropical treetops firmly secured to a zip line. Soaring over the landscape, you'll be rewarded with incredible bird's-eye perspectives of the lush green terrain and volcanic slopes on Hawai'i's second-largest island. Breathe in the scent of eucalyptus-tinged breezes and hear the chirping of grey francolins as brilliant blues of the ocean and horizon seem to connect off in the distance.

Bekah Wright is a Los Angeles-based journalist who considers Hawai'i her second home. Her work has appeared in Bon Appétit, National Geographic Traveler and Brides, among many others.

Topping Rose House

Whether you seek a weekend escape or a weeklong getaway, a peaceful oasis awaits right here in the U.S. Discover just a few of our favorite retreats among our extensive Hotels & Resorts Collection.

Topping Rose House has been a destination for New York luminaries since 1842, celebrated for its graceful style and perfect position between Southampton, East Hampton and Sag Harbor. Hop in a Lexus from the hotel's private fleet to explore the area's boutique-lined streets and beaches before returning to the enclave. Among 22 romantic rooms, suites and cottages, modern touches include an art collection curated by a Manhattan gallerist. We'll help you get Hamptons-ready for the evening with $100 in spa credit before dinner at the ultra-exclusive Jean-Georges at Topping Rose House, starring farm-to-table fare sourced from local fishermen, farmers and the hotel's own one-acre garden.

Salamander Resort & Spa

Cliff House Maine

Salamander Resort & Spa is close enough to Washington, D.C., that it's a favorite among politicians and dignitaries, yet Northern Virginia's rolling meadows feel like they're in another world altogether. Set snugly amidst the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, the estate's 340 acres encompass myriad ways to apply your $100 resort credit: enlist one of the equestrian center's prized steeds to show you the countryside on horseback or reap the benefits of Virginia's wine country with a crushed cabernet spa treatment. Add a new recipe to your arsenal under the tutelage of a visiting D.C. chef in the hands-on Cooking Studio. Your culinary immersion extends into the evening at Harrimans with dinner fresh from the garden and a nightcap by the fire pit as the clear night sky lights up with twinkling stars.

To find quintessential New England, you need only look an hour from the bustle of Boston. Cliff House Maine is perched on the state's southern coast, lending each of its 132 rooms and suites an ocean view while you breathe salty sea air from your private terrace. Spend your days nibbling on the blueberries that grow wild on Cliff House's 70 acres, admiring Nubble Lighthouse on its island home capping off Cape Neddick or sampling wild local mussels and Maine peekytoe crab cakes with a $100 credit at The Tiller Restaurant. At Nubb's Lobster Shack, fill up on more fresh seafood in every Mainer's favorite form: a hearty lobster roll paired with craft beer. If you're feeling inspired by the local flavor, sail the Atlantic on a traditional lobster boat to try catching a crustacean yourself.

Newly opened Andaz Scottsdale Resort & Spa leaves nearby Phoenix behind for the artful energy of the Arizona desert. Wake feeling inspired in your casita-style bungalow and greet the day gazing at the peaks of Camelback Mountain. You'll keep the good vibes going in the invigorating eucalyptus steam room at Palo Verde Spa & Apothecary, then use your $100 credit to mingle with friends over craft cocktails and small plates at Weft & Warp Art Bar + Kitchen. See just how deep the creativity runs during a visit to Cattle Tracks Arts Compound, a unique artist collective that dates back to the 1930s. Your tour of the eclectic studios reveals works from local potters, jewelers, blacksmiths and performers, while artists reciprocate by visiting the resort to share their stories and artwork.

ISRAEL

Israel is bursting with diverse microclimates that create ideal grounds for cultivating world-class wines.

By Sarah Treleven

Wine tasting

Vineyard, Israel

UPPER GALILEE & GOLAN HEIGHTS

Climbing nearly 4,000 feet above sea level, this northern region balances warm days with cool evenings, creating perfect conditions in volcanic soils to grow grapes such as cabernet sauvignon, merlot and chardonnay. Amidst pastoral surroundings, young vines inhabit Upper Galilee while Golan Heights is the center of large producers.

SHOMRON

Mediterranean breezes kiss vines lining the limestone and clay valleys where Baron Edmond de Rothschild planted vines in the late 19th century. A short drive from Tel Aviv, Shomron has long been steeped in ancient winemaking traditions, renowned for producing prized red wines.

SAMSON

Just southeast of Tel Aviv is Israel's second-largest wine region, with many newly planted vineyards anchored in a terroir of sand, limestone and clay soils. Samson has verdant slopes and wide valleys; temperate winters and humid summers characterize the area.

JUDEAN HILLS

High elevation, sea breezes, cool evenings and limestone soil typify the wine region surrounding Jerusalem. The sloping land has been tamed by terraced vineyards and several boutique wineries have emerged to produce Bordeaux-style wines.

NEGEV

Dramatic day-to-night temperature fluctuations can create difficult growing conditions in the desert. But wineries in the Negev have persisted — with the help of drip irrigation — to create distinct wines, such as spicy reds and medium-acidity whites.

Sarah Treleven divides her time between Jerusalem and Toronto and has written for outlets such as Harper's Magazine, Vogue and BBC.

There is no better place to get a sweeping perspective of Israel's flourishing world of wine than the Jerusalem Wine Festival.

Throughout September, the annual festival entices culinary explorers to stroll in the sculpture gardens of the Israel Museum. Swirl, sniff and sip your way through vintages from over 60 wineries across Israel. Guided by tasting notes, you'll also experience Israel's culinary melting pot including local cheeses and handcrafted chocolates. Join local tradition by raising a glass and proclaiming, "I'chaim!"

TAILOR-MADE ISRAEL

Explore Israel on a small-group tour where you'll enjoy unique cultural and culinary experiences as well as visits to the high points of interest throughout Israel. A professional guide can lead you to Elah Valley, where you'll enjoy a winery tour, tasting and lunch, and then to northern Israel for a winery visit and a cheesemaking workshop. We can create an Israel vacation to suit your individual desires and time frame.

Here, in the cherished home of the 175-year-old Vienna Philharmonic and Vienna Mozart Orchestra, you’ll feel the same creative energy that must have inspired Johann Strauss II to compose the piece more than a century and a half ago.

While the waltz is synonymous with Vienna, music from all genres permeates the Austrian capital. More than 15,000 concerts take place throughout the year. Attend Sunday Mass at the Hofburg Chapel in the Imperial Palace where the Vienna Boys’ Choir fills the room with uplifting melodies, or select from a different performance each night at the Vienna State Opera. You can pair live music with sips of riesling as you relax in the garden of a Heurige (wine tavern), savor flaky apple strudel over jazz in a concert café and order cocktails at a trendy club on the banks of the Danube canal. Various museums in Vienna are also dedicated to music. The Haus der Musik (House of Music) sends visitors on a journey through the history of music via interactive multimedia exhibits that

Then, nibble on a chocolate-covered Mozartkugel (Mozart ball) straight from its source: Cafe Konditorei Fürst, just steps away from the composer's birth home. Come evening, immerse yourself in a dramatic concert high above the city at Hohensalzburg Fortress or enjoy a series of sonatas under the Romanesque Hall of St. Peter's Monastery.

Within Salzburg, and in the surrounding region of SalzburgerLand, there are even more musical traditions to discover. Follow in the footsteps of the von Trapp family among the backdrops of "The Sound of Music," exploring the famous gazebo and the picturesque Lake District. During your stay, you'll also discover that SalzburgerLand is the home to another piece of music history: "Silent Night, Holy Night," was written just outside the city of Salzburg nearly 200 years ago.
